If the Democrats in Congress, who are as fond as the Republicans of voting big appropriations in which their districts and their constituents will share, had bowels of mercy they would cease nagging Senator ALDRICH about his famous opinion that $300,000,000 could be saved every year by administering the Government on business principles.

Our impression is that Mr. ALDRICH is sorry that he ever said it; the sum he named is almost a third of a billion dollars, and no session of Congress ends without at least a billion of appropriations. It is now considered the irreducible minimum, and if Congress were asked to vote less it would consider that its paich, who never turns his back to a he is a candidate for reelection. One fruit of this resolve was the royal decree of May 31, which directed that all religious orders not authorized by the concordat should immediately dissolve or else enroll themselves under an "associations" law passed in 1887. Last Saturday Premier Canalejas issued an order to the provincial Governors for the imsects, permitting them to place religious and to conduct their services publicly on nized at home.

Vice, the Nuncie, filed formal protests against the action of the Ministry, denouncing it as a breach of faith in anticipating the negotiations to which the Holy See had consented. The note presented insisted that the status quo should be maintained until the two high contracting parties could come to an agreement covering the whole field of Church and State relations.

I take it that this country wishes to make it clear to other Powers that it does not desire to establish a virtual blockade of our ports against the foreign merchant marine by permitting gasolene boats of all lengths, from nine or ten feet up to twenty into the Ambrose Channel without whistles bilities of appalling disaster that such neglisame thing at other ports of entrance.

The republic desires to exist on terms of maritime amity with the other nations of the earth and to have them feel assured that when their vessels approach our shores they will not be endangered by leviathans twice as long as a bedstead recklessly leviathaning around without whistles not BROOKLYN, June 15.

OUTINGS FOR THE POOR. The Association for Improving Their Condition in Pressing Need of Funds.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE SUN-Sir: That To the Editor of the Sun—Ser: That the weather has a marked effect upon philanthropic contributions is a matter of serious consequence in a work of such magnitude as that of the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor. The cool weather of May and June has, we fear, caused many people to forget to send us their usual contributions.

Our receipts for fresh air work are about 18,000 less than a year age at this time. There is not the slightest doubt that we shall be called upon to provide fresh air outings this summer, as last, for nearly 30,000 needy women and children of the tenements.

We always have to refuse large numbers, so that even with a comfortable aummer our homes both at Sea Breeze and at Caroline Rest will be taxed to their full capacity with convalencents, and there is urgent need of the change, good food and outdoor life. Hot days are sure to come, and we must be provided with the means to carry on the work when everybody's awag.
